

Respect For The Individual

Colleagues

There have been several serious instances within the UK over the last few weeks which have impacted many innocent people and destroyed countless lives and families.

These instances have caused upset and outrage from people in all corners of the globe.

The authorities will, in time, investigate each instance and will take whatever appropriate action is necessary to try to limit reoccurrence / bring individuals or groups to justice.

Within ASDA it is important, just as much as it is outside of work, to ensure that we are mindful of what we say and what we publish on social media.

GMB have been contacted by several members who have felt vulnerable or uncomfortable due to inappropriate comments which have been made. Each of these concerns are one too many and will be taken seriously and will be addressed.

One of ASDA's Beliefs are to "Respect for the Individual"

There is no more important time for everyone to follow this belief so that we are as one to support each other and overcome these horrifying instances.

I request that colleagues ensure anything which is said or anything posted upon social media does not offend others?

Regards
